

Please don't allow the larger networks to squash local ISPs. I love my own local sonic.net because their spam filters work, I'm not bombarded by ads and pop-ups and when I have a problem, a real person answers right away. As others suffer through more commercialized and invasive services like Yahoo, I continue to thank my lucky stars for my small, local ISP. Please insure that consumers continue to have choices off the sheep trail.

Terrie Noll